

Have you been looking for a new place to attach to?

A spacious coral reef could be the place for you! Crabs will act as speedy travel accommodations to help you get from one reef to another! This spacious bit of coral is teeming with many kinds of small fish and shrimp for your personal buffet. Clown fish will also be your companions if you live here!

For contact information ask a fish nearby or call
1-800-Anemone

A Benthic Environment!

Searching for an Acorn Barnacle who's looking for a rock! This "bottom substrate" is definitely hard and solid (perfect for attachment). The waters are salty and cold, rich in nutrients, and thriving with plankton (organic and wonderful food source). Located inside a semi-deep crevice, the surrounding rocks provide protection/shelter from potentially overpowering waves and currents (a built-in security system). Amenities (not to be confused with "anemone" - sorry this is corny) include: *ability to hit rock bottom without breaking * liberation from difficulties with separation from loved ones (e.g. an Acorn Barnacle to its rock or other barnacle friends/family) because there is space enough for many! If a sedentary life is the one for you - this is the home to choose!

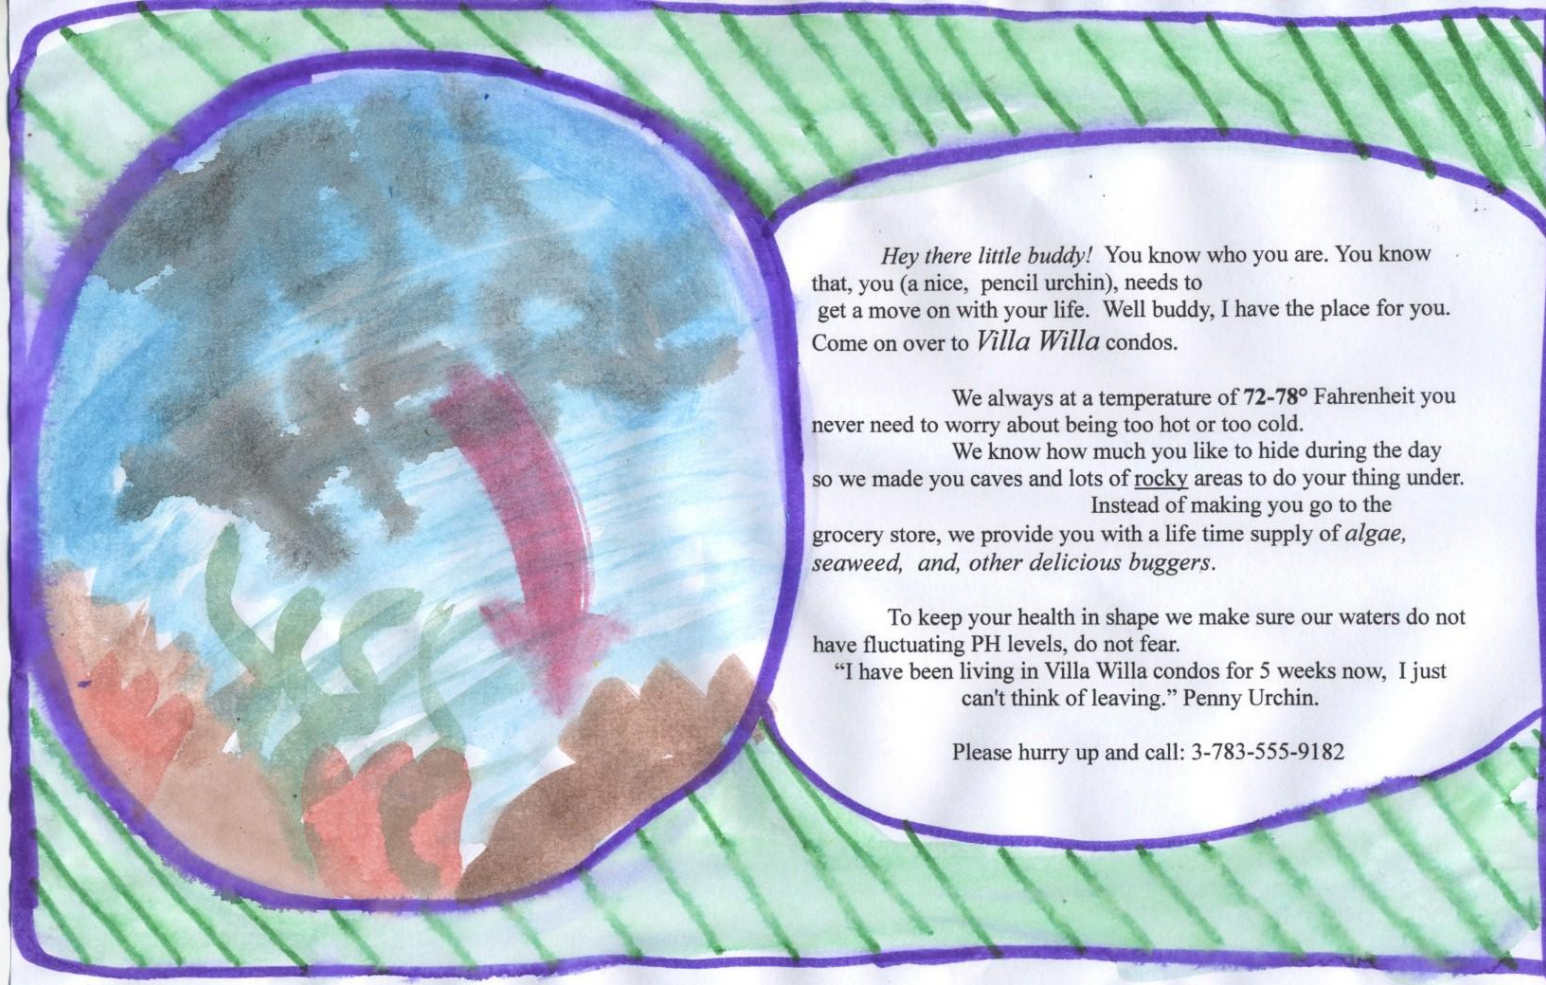

SPOT OPEN FOR FRIENDLY MUSSEL!

After the loss of an old friend, we have a shiny, rocky spot on the shore of the Pacific Ocean. 1 inch by 1 inch, this luxury foothold is perfect for an outgoing, friendly mussel. The rock is very hard and occupied by senior, tide loving barnacles. You will never be lonely, as this site is happily smushed between 24 other mussels. You'll be sure to have adequate protection against the force of the waves. Don't wait; attach your byssus quickly and firmly to our rock! Because of the summer weather, occupant will have to deal with extreme temperature fluctuations, which you are probably used to. The area surrounding the rock is abundant in plankton as well as other microscopic sea creatures. Perfect for feasting! If you're the right mussel for this benthic location call the number below for more information:

1-800-sellrocks

(you could be here)

Hey there little buddy! You know who you are. You know that, you (a nice, pencil urchin), needs to get a move on with your life. Well buddy, I have the place for you. Come on over to Villa Willa condos.

We always at a temperature of 72-78° Fahrenheit you never need to worry about being too hot or too cold.

We know how much you like to hide during the day so we made you caves and lots of rocky areas to do your thing under.

Instead of making you go to the grocery store, we provide you with a life time supply of algae, seaweed, and, other delicious buggers.

To keep your health in shape we make sure our waters do not have fluctuating PH levels, do not fear.

"I have been living in Villa Willa condos for 5 weeks now, I just can't think of leaving." Penny Urchin.

Please hurry up and call: 3-783-555-9182

Are you a halammohydra?
Are you looking for a some nice grains of sand to live between?

If you are this is the thing for you!

It's a nice French villa

Complete with horse and ill tempered security guard!

Plenty of places to sleep in between the sand molecules so bring all your friends!

Safe from crabs you and your microscopic friends can party all night long!

BENTHIC OCEAN FRONT PROPERTY

Perfect for sea palms looking for a home!!!

Located along Southern California's beautiful coast in the upper intertidal zone, this new habitat is perfect for you! The hard rock substrate is perfect for your holdfast to attach to. The waves that surround you bring unique biological conditions such as nutrients and sunlight right to your doorstep! Due to tides and your close proximity to land you'll be able to spend part of your time under water and part of your time above water, enjoying the sun. This is a great spot for photosynthesizing! You'll have low competition for space and food, with pesky mussels unable to steal space due to the wave movement. This is the perfect place for you to raise a family (there's room for them to live nearby!) with enough sunlight, food and space.

A Wonderful Sea Property

Perfect for Starfish!

This wonderful rocky property is ideal for a star fish. The habitat is unique and perfect for a social starfish, there are lots of friends nearby. The water is salty and shallow, but beneath the typical low tide mark.

There are not many big fish or sharks in this tropical benthic area. A nearby sandy substrate attracts lots of yummy clams! All of this for the great price of 5,000 plankton!

Contact Manya for more information.